Report of the event

A special lecture & one day Student Seminar was organised by Department of Assamese, Jhanji Hemnath Sarma College on 11th June 2022 on the occasion of student seminar of the Department. Himen Bhattacharya, Renowned Writer, Educationist was invited as Resource Person of the special talk. Bhattacharya said on his lecture that 'Formal education can only provide one of the four parts of the education we need for life. Life cannot be enriched by studying textbooks alone and the prescribed curriculum of schools and colleges'. The theme of the talk was "Education and Life: The Role of Students". In this regard he again said: "Students must take various inspirational things as their companion for the pace of life. They must learn to be like lightning birds. Therefore, it is important to understand that the light of the sun finds its way in the darkness with the light of its body. In the same way, we must learn to light ourselves the nation is alive." The event was attended by 67 students of the college. The Programme was chaired by Navanita Bora, Head of Assamese Department. The 14th-15th issue of the annual magazine 'Ankur' published by the Assamese department of the college was launched by Bhawani Kumar Barua. This issue of "Ankur" is edited by Rituraj Mahanta, a student of the Department. It is worth mentioning that the department has been continuously publishing this magazine with editing by students. The program was attended by Vice-President Kundil Kumar Mudai and Bidyadhar Baruah, Coordinator of Internal Quality Assurance Cell, as guests of honour. The second part of the program was a student seminar where the students of the Assamese department read out papers on fourteen different topics.

WEEKLONG BLENDED FACULTY DEVELOPMENT PROGRAMME
ON
EFFECTIVE TEACHING IN BLENDED LEARNING ERA
Teaching Learning Centre, Tezpur University

In association with Jhanji HNS College, Sivasagar

June 09-15, 2022

The Teaching Learning Centre, Tezpur University has been conducting different discipline specific and general thematic Faculty Development Programmes for teachers of higher education as per PMMMNMTT mandate since 2018. Keeping in view the UGC norms for online academic programmes, Teaching Learning Centre, in association with Jhanji HNS College, Sivasagar conducted one weeklong blended FDP on the theme Effective Teaching in Blended Learning Era during 09 and 15 June, 2022.

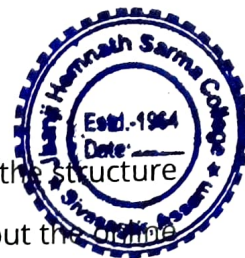

The main areas covered in the FDP are - Blended learning, Communication skill, E-content creation, Digital learning platforms etc. along with activity based blended learning strategies.

The FDP course included both live sessions and pre-recorded video sessions disseminated in online mode and offline sessions that were conducted in JHNS College premise. Some related activities along with assignments were also given to the participants during the FDP. The online sessions were managed through Google Classroom and WebEx. There were 103 registered participants in the programme and completion certificate was given to 98 participants. Feedback on the sessions were carried out on each day to assess the quality of the programme.

The inaugural cum introduction session of the FDP was graced by the Director of TLC, TU Professor Subhrangshu Sekhar Sarkar, Principal of JHNS College Dr. Manjit Gogoi, IQAC Coordinator of the college, programme coordinators and TLC Faculty members as coordinators of the programme. The objective of the FDP was stated by the Director and rules and regulations of attending classes were explained by the TLC coordinator of the FDP. The participants got to learn about the structure of the FDP and in this session all the participants were oriented about the and blended learning in classroom teaching after the Covid pandemic.

Day 1: 09 June, 2022 Thursday

The first technical session on Blended Learning: From Theory to Practice was conducted by Dr. B. S. Balaji, School of Biotechnology, Jawaharlal Nehru University. In this session the speaker how blended learning can be used in the classroom by teachers and how it improves the learning situation in a classroom. He also discussed learning modalities, types of BL, important features of BL, MOOC as a supplementary learning platform, various roles of LMS platforms, about IPSIT and many more about BL.

The second pre-recorded technical session was on E-content Creation, Editing, Storage and Dissemination: Part I and it was conducted by Ikbal Ahmed, Assistant Professor, TLC, TU. UGC-SWAYAM guidelines for creating videos, features and uses of screencasting and how it is pedagogically effective for improving learning situations are the topics that were covered in this session. E Content creation is necessary to connect with a large section of students online with the help of modern equipped teaching strategies. Such practices will definitely help the content developer to improve his techniques of content making as well as his skill of presenting the content in a very organised way. Presentation softwares like Screencast-O-Matic, Share X, OBS are introduced to the participants with demonstration.

In the last session, participants were given online quizzes and feedback on the day's sessions.

The first technical session of the day was on Communication Skill Mode. It was conducted by Prof. Chandana Goswami, dept. Of Administration, Tezpur University.

The speaker discussed that communicating properly plays an important role in blended learning. Hence, one needs to take care of the barriers to effective communication. Here the speaker demonstrated with activity various methods for the communication skills for the blended mode of learning. The key learning of the participants from this session is how to mitigate the learning gap for the students with respect to communication skills.

The second technical session was on the topic: Online and Offline: Balancing the Flip-Flop by Prof. M. K. Sarma, Dean, Academic Affairs, Tezpur University. Here the speaker talked that teaching learning now depends on the mind and mouse by using multimedia, classroom, and recorded classes that belong to digital learning. Blended learning provides online and pre-recorded video which is an alternative way of effective learning. It ensures skill development of a teacher and gives more confidence. Student and teacher interaction, participation in blended learning are highly essential today, because of some natural calamities. The traditional as well as digital teaching learning is equally profitable.

The third pre-recorded technical session was on E-content Creation, Editing, Storage and Dissemination: Part II and it was conducted by Ikbal Ahmed, Assistant Professor, TLC, TU. Here the speaker gave demonstration on two specific Screencasting softwares i.e. OBS and Freecam and editing software that are free and open source. Participants were given activity based on the demonstrated softwares to practice on their own.

In the last session, participants were given online quizzes and feedback on the day's sessions.

Day 3: 11 June, 2022 Saturday and Day 4: 12 June, 2022 Sunday were dedicated for practicing the activity and assignments given by the resource persons. Participants submitted their tasks within the stipulated time during these days.

Day 5: 13 June, 2022 Monday

The first technical session of the day was on the Topic: Effective Strategies for making a Class Interesting and it was conducted by Mr. Vijay Kapur, Former Director, ICAI, India. Methods of teaching which make learning effective. He said that teachers have a responsibility to make class interesting. Building up students' own confidence, developing basic skills, and communicative skills make a teacher different from other professionals. Teachers must enjoy class with students, delivering speeches fluently and confidently, staying in passion etc whenever he is in the classroom, making students-friendly interaction, and participating students in various events by teachers are ways of effective classroom learning.

The second technical session was on Production of Digital Content and the session was carried out by Dr. Tejindar Pal Singh, Punjab University. A systematic strategy has to be taken for conducting both online and offline teaching. Discussion, Assessment, documents, videos, images, websites, and quizzes are some of the main tools of online learning. To draw attention and effective learning, teachers should present PDF, PPT, videos, images in their classroom teaching. In this session the participants learnt more knowledge about creating engaging and interactive e- content systematically. Demonstrations on various web based tools like insert learning, edpuzzel etc. were shown to them for hands on practice.

About Jhanji H.N.S. College
Established on 25th July 1984, Jhanji Hemnath Sarma College is a premier institute of higher education in Sivasagar district of Assam. The college has been imparting quality education since its inception. Students come to this college from far flung areas of the district and even from outside the district to pursue higher education in their chosen branches of knowledge. Located in the beautiful lush environment of the plain bank of the river Jhanji, bordering Sivasagar and Jorhat districts, it has continued its long stretch of enlightenment to the students. The college has conducted several workshops, seminars, webinars in the last decade at national and international level for the faculty members, researchers, students.

Theme of the FDP
Blended learning is an instructional methodology which combines digital learning tools with more traditional classroom face-to-face teaching. It is a mixture pedagogical approach of face-to-face and on-line activities. The National Education Policy 2020 has given a paradigm shift in what can be achieved through the transformation of education. The NEP clearly states that it is time to take on a policy that is student-centric, learner-centred, and learning shifts the primary role from knowledge provider to coach and mentor. Thus this shift does not mean that teachers play a passive or less important role in students' education. The entire FDP aims to raise the following main themes to be able to enable the faculty with some of the most effective practices required for teaching in the Blended learning era.

- Blended learning: From Theory to Practice
- Communication Skill for Blended Mode
- Production of Digital Content
- Creating Modes: Some Pedagogical Perspectives
- Effective Teaching: Qualities in Blended Learning Era
- Use of ICT Tools for Effective Teaching, etc.
