WOMEN CELL

Women being the holder of society, every higher educational institution have shed importance on creating awareness for the development of women in the society at all levels. Hence, Jhanji Hemnath Sarma College also established a Women Cell on 22/05/2004 through a meeting of its teachers and other employees, whereby Smt. Mamoni Borgohain became the founder secretary of the Women Cell of Jhanji Hemnath Sarma College. The women cell is a wing of the Assam Teacher's Association. The moto of the cell is to work towards women development both within the college campus and outside. All the women teachers by virtue of their appointment in the college become members of the cell. The cell undertakes different activities for the upliftment of women from different spheres of life. The cell celebrated women and observes International Women's Day every year with a specific theme at a place outside the college premises.

Aims and objectives of the Women Studies Cell

- To change the prevailing negative attitude of the society towards the rights and responsibilities enjoyed by women in life.
- To raise awareness among both men and women to use women's strength as a key resource for national development.
- To bring social issues to the attention of higher education and to make efforts to solve these issues through Women's Studies Cells and to create individuals who can play a more sensitive and elevated role in the development of women's empowerment.
- To unveil new aspects of knowledge on women's empowerment through research and study.
- To adopt policies for the overall development of women by linking organizations directly involved in women's development with higher education institutions.
- To help women enjoy their rights in their families or communities.
- To take necessary and timely steps to ensure a respectable position of women in society.
